We built this list the same way we built the menu, by focusing on balance, honesty, and a sense of place. These are wines from growers we respect, people who farm responsibly, work thoughtfully in the cellar, and care more about expression than perfection. Most are made with minimal intervention, letting the grape and the terroir speak for themselves. Some bottles are classic and familiar, others might challenge expectations or introduce you to something unexpected, but none are here by accident. What they all have in common is intention. These are wines that are meant to be enjoyed at the table, with food, and in good company.
